

What is news literacy?

News literacy teaches that all information is not created equal. It helps young people use the aspirational standards of quality journalism to determine what they should trust, share and act on.

Learn More —————>

“The News Literacy Project’s checkology™ virtual classroom is the most effective classroom resource I’m aware of to make certain that our students are media savvy for the challenges that await them in the 21st Century.”

—Eric Nadelstern, the former chief schools officer for the New York City Department of Education

Learn More —————>

Classroom visits, afterschool programs, and professional development

Learn More —————>

Made possible with support from the following major sponsors:

